

Eircom [Ireland]

Nation-wide telephony network control

Eircom is Ireland's leading communications company, providing a comprehensive range of advanced voice, data and multimedia services.

Eircom's principal business is the supply of domestic and international fixed line voice and data communications services. The company has 1.58 million telephone lines connected to its telephone network.

In order to improve customer service and increase operational efficiency, Eircom management has invested in a 50-channel Barco display with full software integration.
